"FAT TAKES."

Er is a Greedy Lot—The "Merry Monarch"—Profits and Perquisites.

Earls are a most greedy set and a numerous one, says the London correspondent of the Philadelphia Press. Two hundred earls have exerted their patronage in favor of 3,391 relatives, who have enjoyed the sweets of nearly 6,000 comfortable posts, which have entailed an expense to the country of more than $240,000,000. Viscounts, to the total of sixty, with 963 relatives installed in 1,500 offices or so, have swept into their pockets the nice little sum of $56,000,000, and 221 barons, last in order of precedency but not numerically, have secured for 2,492 "connections" more than 4,000 preferments, of the aggregate value of $155,000,000.

Or in other words, 552 aristocratic families, with 7,991 relatives, have got hold of 13,889 offices, which are kept up at an annual charge upon the British taxpayers of about $16,000,000. Roughly speaking the cost of the English aristocracy and its offshoots to the nation is about four times that of royalty, the direct outlay upon the crown being $4,300,000 per annum. Among the dukes I find the greatest sinners are Richmond, Wellington and Grafton, all of whom have received more than $5,000,000 of public moneys. The dukedom of Richmond dates from the year 1675, and the rent roll of the estates produces nearly $400,000 per annum.

The first duke of Richmond was one of the round dozen of bastard children of whom Charles II.—the "Merry Monarch"—acknowledged himself to be the father. To the young duke the king granted by letters patent one shilling per chaldron upon all coals shipped in the River Tyne, to be consumed in England. This royalty was paid until quite recently. Goodwood, Essex, was purchased by the duke of Richmond in 1720. The present duke, who was, under the last Conservative administration, lord president of the council, and at one time mentioned as probable leader of the Conservative party, is one of the foremost adherents of Lord Salisbury. He is greatly interested in all that pertains to agriculture. There is not one of the Dukes of Richmond that has not contrived to make an addition to his income by means of court appointments, ornamental colonelcies and the like.

Wellington was a purely military dukedom, and the money the first duke received were awarded in consideration of his brilliant services in the field. But the whole family participated in his success. It was estimated in 1822—a date prior to the period with which I am dealing more particularly—that the Wellesleys obtained no less than $475,000 annually, either from church or state.

Grafton is another of the bastard peerages, probably descended from Charles II. The duke has a roll of $160,000. He had a hereditary pension of $45,000 a year granted from the excise and $23,500 a year from the post office. The former pension was redeemed in 1855 by a cash payment of $915,000, and the latter in 1856 by a similar payment of $465,000.

The Duke of Beaufort, a great coaching man; the Duke of Bedford, owner of Covent Garden market and of many a neighboring slum, and the Duke of Marlborough have each profited to the extent of upward of $2,500,000 during the past four-and-thirty years. There is only one marquis—Waterford—whose family has done as well, if not better than the three dukes first mentioned. In the Waterfords are the Beresford family, whose pasture grounds used to be the Irish church. In thirty-four years eight Beresfords drew from Ireland, as ministers or dignitaries of the Irish church, no less a sum than $480,000. There were also a considerable number in the army and the civil service. Six marquises of different families have drawn between them about $15,000,000, their offices having been almost sinecures.

The Marquis of Salisbury, although by no means the least rapacious of his clan, nevertheless figures for about $1,000,000, distributed among relatives whom he contrived even before he became premier to introduce into positions under the government. His profits and perquisites are now, of course, vastly increased, as he has free rein with the nation's wealth.

THE ORIENT.

The Japan Gazette says: "The Chinese government seems to have at last awakened to the value of telegraphs, for two Chinese officials with a staff of twenty operatives arrived at Nimsen on the 8th instant to make the preliminary surveys for a line between Tientsin and Seoul. The necessary arrangements were made with the Corean Government and the work will soon be commenced. The length of the line will be 500 miles."

A correspondent of the Nagasaki Express writing from Chemulpo on June 20th says: "The Russians are bringing considerable pressure to bear about the Port Hamilton affair and have so overawed the Government that they will probably concede anything that is asked of them. It is rumored that a rupture has taken place between Mr. Aston and the embassador concerning the matter. I am informed by a native official in authority that the Corean government has no objection to the British occupation of Port Hamilton, but must protest against it to avoid giving offense to Russia."

A Chinese man of-war arrived at Shanghai from Port Hamilton, reports thirteen British men-of-war at anchor in the latter place.

There is great distress in Kwantung after the floods. American missionaries have organized relief parties.

It is stated by the Peking correspondent of the Shen Pao that, though Sir Robert Hart did most in the preparation of the texts of the late treaty between France and China, the authorities also placed great reliance on the eminent knowledge of Chinese and French possessed by Dr. Martin, head of the Anglo-Chinese College in Peking, who, it is now rumored, will be appointed Inspector-General. Whenever a difficulty in rendering a phrase arose, he was privately consulted. The ministers of the Yamen are very grateful to him, and it is said that besides giving him a complimentary dinner on June 28th they will jointly request his Majesty to bestow on him the Star of the Double Dragon.

The religious festival of the crowning of Our Lady of Bologna, as Queen of the Brasils, took place in Bologna lately. The ceremony was performed by the nuncio in the presence of 50,000 persons. The statue of the Virgin was carried in the procession through the town. All the church dignitaries took part in the services. At night the town was illuminated.

Information has been received that Dongola has been occupied by 4000 Dervishes, who are armed with 800 rifles.

NEWS BY CABLE.

TO-DAY'S DESPATCHES.

The English Liberal Policy.

Special to THE TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—The Marquis of Hartington, who was Minister of War under the Gladstone government, delivered an address at Rosendale, in which he urged the extension of local self government, so that parliament might be enabled to give its attention solely to imperial legislation. No party, he said would ever concede Mr. Parnell's demand, the ultimate result of which would be to bind the British members irrespective of politics, to combine to keep the Empire broke. Lord Hartington said that he was glad Parnell had explicitly defined his position and demands on which an alliance could be purchased. He thought no political party in England would consent to acquire or attain office by conceding Parnell's demands. He believed that gentleman had, for once, made a mistake in openly stating his demand and thereby insuring his own defeat. If he persisted in his policy of obstruction, means would be found by a practically united people to oppose a firm veto on proposals that were fatal to the integrity and prosperity of the Empire. Lord Hartington declaimed against the extreme socialistic programme of the Chamberlain party and favored moderate measures of land reform.

The Queen and the Sultan.

Special to THE TIMES.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 31.—In an interview with the Sultan Sir H. D'Wolff read a personal message from Queen Victoria to the Sultan expressing her best wishes for peace and friendship. The Queen refers to her previous acquaintance with the Sultan and recalls the loyalty of the Sultan's father as a friend and an ally of England. She says she hopes to help the Sultan to establish a government in Egypt conducive equally to the Sultan's rights and happiness as well as of the Egyptians and the interests of inland powers, and that this will be the basis of Sir H. D'Wolff's efforts. The Sultan made a gracious reply, saying he valued highly the friendship of Queen Victoria and an alliance with England. He added that he would designate persons to confer with Sir H. D'Wolff respecting Egypt and would grant a further audience on the subject.

London Financial Market.

Special to THE TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—The London money market displayed more activity during the past week, caused by gold withdrawals for Egypt, fears of an export of gold to America late in the autumn, and talk of a revival of trade. Three months bills were quoted at 1½ shorter dates at 1⅝, short loans at ½. The stock market was active up to the latter portion of the week and prices improved, but subsequently eased off, owing to speculative realizations. There is still a hopeful feeling that a large speculative account for a rise will open all departments, although the public does not appear eager to take stock in support of bear account. Some signs of downward reaction were apparent. Americans showed a decline ¼@1½ for the week.

German Customs.

Special to THE TIMES.

BERLIN, Aug. 30.—The market has been somewhat dull, but the majority of the quotations have been fully maintained. Mine owners in France, Germany, Belgium and Spain have completed a zinc canon. England and America are now the only countries which continental producers have to compete with. Germany will shortly sign a customs treaty with Turkey. The Porte has granted Germany valuable concessions. A proposal to apply the workman insurance bill to accidents at sea will be submitted to the next Reichstag.

Protection in Austria.

Special to THE TIMES.

VIENNA, Aug. 30.—Count Kalnoky has returned from Varsin. It is learned that Prince Bismarck maintains the conviction that protection alone will save German industries. The German chancellor urged Count Kalnoky to adopt the strongest protective measures for Austria. German competition in coal and cereals continues to weigh heavily on Austrian producers. The stock market has been very quiet; closing quotations were: Exchange on London, 124.50; gold rentes, 108.90; silver rentes, 86.20.

A Fatal Riot

Special to THE TIMES.

MADRID, Aug. 30.—A riot has occurred at Almeria, in Adalusia, increasing cholera mortality, having driven most of the wealthy residents from the city. Large numbers of poor people were deprived of employment. This desertion on the part of the rich employers incensed the laboring people, and the feeling of indignation culminated in a riotous outbreak. Many houses of the wealthy were wrecked by the mob. Soldiers were called out and in a conflict that ensued eight persons were killed and twelve others wounded.

Americans to the Front.

Special to THE TIMES.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 30.—The international boat race took place to-day between crews from various men-of-war in the harbor. The cutter from the U. S. steamer Quinnebag was victorious. The race was witnessed by officers of the steamers, U. S. Minister Cox, Consul General Heap, and most of the members of the American colony, and by a large crowd of spectators who applauded and congratulated the victors.

Cholera in Japan.

Special to THE TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—A dispatch has been received here stating that cholera has appeared at Nagasaki, Japan, and that the presence of the scourge has created great excitement, especially among foreigners.

Gladstone's Movements.

Special to THE TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—Mr. Gladstone left Molde, Norway, in the yacht Sunbeam, yesterday for the Shetland Islands.

Frankfort Money Market.

Special to THE TIMES.

FRANKFORT, Aug. 30. Business during the week was busiest, with a firm tendency at the close. London short, 20.28; Austrian gold rentes, 89¼; Russian 4s, 81⅝; private discount, 2¾.

Plague at Marseilles

Special to THE TIMES.

MARSEILLES, Aug. 30.—There were fifty-three deaths from cholera in this city on Saturday. There are eighty patients in the Pharo hospital.

Landlords Must be Abolished.

Special to THE TIMES.

DUBLIN, Aug. 31.—A large league meeting was held at Killarney, in which T. M. Healy, M. P., spoke on the land question. He advised the people to abstain from committing outrages, especially when likely to serve the interests of landlords and policemen; and that they should not put all their trust in the Irish party in the House of Commons, who are only Sappers and Miners in the army carrying war into the enemy's camp. Mr. O'Brien, M. P., followed. He declared that the advantage gained would never be lost, and that landlords must be abolished from Ireland.

Seizure of the Caroline Islands.

Special to THE TIMES.

BARCELONA, Aug. 31.—A public meeting was held here to-day to protest against the seizure of the Caroline Islands by Germany. The populace demanded that the Spanish flag be hoisted on the government building, became enraged when the authorities refused to comply with their demands. The main door of the building was set on fire by the mob and military help had to be called out to restore order.

Sovereignty of the Caroline Islands.

Special to THE TIMES.

MADRID, Aug. 31.—The Spanish Government has forwarded to Germany a copy of the agreement signed three years ago by the native chiefs, in which they recognized the sovereignty of Spain over the Caroline Islands.

It is rumored that the recent Anglo-German Pacific agreement comprised mutual declarations in regard to the Carolines. It is denied that the Spanish commissioner has come here in reference to the Carolines. All negotiations between the two governments are entrusted to the Spanish Ambassador here.

Japan and Russia.

Special to THE TIMES.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 31.—The Official Messenger says the English press at Yokohama has unsuccessfully tried to excite Europeans and Japanese against Russia. It is hoped that Mr. Hubbard, the new U. S. Minister to Japan, will continue Mr. Burgham's anti-English policy.

Turkey and England.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

MR. BEDSON advocates government works in the vicinity of Batoche for the relief of the half-breeds.

COLONEL DE WITTOE has forbidden the sale of arms and ammunition to the natives of the Congo State.

THE British North America Mica and Asbestos Mining company, with a headquarters at Winnipeg, with a capital of $1,000,000, has made application to the Dominion government for an act of incorporation.

FROM statistics published in Montreal it appears that three-fourths of the deaths from smallpox during the past ten years have been those of French Canadians, who seem remarkable susceptibly to the disease.

CONSERVATIVE members are constantly giving expression to the opinion that the general elections for the Dominion will immediately follow the close of the next session of parliament.

THE French delegates arrived at Montreal and were received by the mayor and many French citizens, and members of the party express the opinion that the result of their visit will be to increase the emigration from France to Canada.

IT is reported that the French government has sent a communication to the English government expressing regret for Rochefort's attacks upon Queen Victoria, the Prince of Wales, Lord Lyons and others.

THE EX-EMPRESS EUGENE wrote the following pathetic sentence in private letter to MONSIGNOR GODDARD at Chiselhurst: "I am left alone, the sole remnant of a shipwreck, which proves how fragile and vain are the grandeurs of this world."

THE June statement of the Southern Pacific railway, including the Atlantic and Pacific system, shows an increase of $400,000 in the net earnings over the corresponding period of last year. This arises chiefly from a decrease of $391,000 in operating expenses.

THE water police, as well as the city force, have been instructed to watch all strangers arriving from Montreal or elsewhere who have any appearance of illness, and ascertain where they are going, in order that the health officers may trace them if necessary, and prevent the inroad and spread of contagious or infectious diseases.

IN India there are 12,004 miles of railway in operation, and 3556 miles are under construction. Of the roads in operation 6906 miles are in the hands of companies, 4434 miles are state lines and 664 miles belong to native states. Gross receipts of all lines for 1884 were £16,066,255, or about $80,000,000.

THE Ontario government has passed an Order-in-Council authorizing the expenditure of $25,000 upon the construction of a colonization road from North Bay to Lake Temiscaminque, a distance of forty-two miles. This is with a view to opening for settlement a row of townships in that northern Ottawa country.

WANDERING SPIRIT and a number of Indian prisoners are at Battleford, and will probably be tried there, instructions having been forwarded not to send any more prisoners to Regina. WANDERING SPIRIT is anxious to turn Queen's evidence, but this will scarcely save his neck, as he was the murderer of the priests at Frog Lake. MISERABLE MAN is also anxious to "split." It is the belief that all the Indians who were engaged in the murder, will be hanged, and that there will be no commutation of sentence for LOUIS RIEL.

THERE will be no danger that the GRANT family will not be properly cared for. The general's memoirs will produce a revenue which will be large, even after the payment of losses of relatives who sank their money in the GRANT & WARD swindle. It will not be the fault of friends if the sons do not become independent in a few years. A prominent Californian, presumably SENATOR STANFORD, has offered a place on the railroad to JESSE, while the others have equally favorable openings. The strong personal affection which so many people felt for the general does not end with his life. His family will inherit this as well as the honor of his name and the fame of his services to the Union.

THE SCOTTISH CROFTERS.

Of late not much has been heard of the Hebrides Crofters troubles. The outbreak at one time promised to assume a serious aspect, but timely action on the part of the authorities, combined with wise counsel, had the effect of restoring tranquility, and for the present, to all outward appearances peace and quietness reign supreme. A well known friend of the Crofters, the REV. DAVID MACRAE, of Dundee, Scotland, recently made a tour through the western isles of Scotland with the view of ascertaining the actual condition of affairs with the people in these districts. Upon his returning home he gave an address on the condition of the Crofters, from which we extract the following particulars: "It was premature to talk about the Highlands being over-populated when more than two million acres, including some of the best arable and pasture lands, were reserved for the sport of a few aristocrats. It was absurd to speak of there being no room for enlarged crofts while there was room enough to allow one man to look up between 200 and 300 square miles of the country for his private sport. On Loch Duich he had seen the farmhouse going to decay, the neatly fenced fields full of rich rank grass unused, while beside them, but shut out from them, were poor cotters who cannot get milk for their children because there is no room to keep a cow! Mr. MACRAE declared that so cruel and intolerable had been the treatment of the Highland people that had the Highlands been what they once were there would to a certainty have been an armed rebellion; and no rebellion in history would have had ampler justification."

It is almost inconceivable that such wrongs should be permitted in Scotland, and that a people loyal, brave and moral should be crushed into the dust to satisfy the rapacity of heartless landowners. Surely a day of vengeance will come, when the robbers of widows and orphans, and the oppressors and despoilers of the poor shall suffer pang for pang for all that they inflicted. Who dare say that such a retribution would be undeserved, or that a relentless justice that would make the tyrants suffer the tortures they have so often inflicted, could even partially palliate for the wrongs endured? Many, no doubt, have heard how a Duchess of SUTHERLAND secured gallant Highland recruits for her son's regiment by temptingly displaying a guinea between her lips, and tacitly inviting the young men to enter the service of their country, secure a guinea, and kiss a duchess all at the same time. How splendidly successful was the charming artifice, and what a magnificent band of men she secured for her son's troop! Of the deeds of those so strangely enlisted history is not silent, and upon many a battlefield they proved themselves, like so many of their countrymen, second to none.

Weary, battle-scarred, and worn with service, they returned to the dead land of their birth, and the eager anticipations with which they expected a welcome from their parents and sisters and brothers, may be fancied, but can only be known fully to those who know how warm is the Celt's feeling of attachment to his relatives and the home of his fathers. Instead of a welcome they found ruined hamlets and dismantled cots, and those who would have greeted them with a warmth of feeling unknown to colder races, were scattered far and wide, or managed to eke out a precarious existence on the rocks by the sea that laved their Highland home. So thus was the welcome given to the Sutherland Highlanders by the ducal family of Sutherland, and those who had heroically fought and added fresh laurels to the long roll of Scotland's martial fame were rewarded by their relatives being ejected from their homes, or their cots burned over their heads.

Such wrongs as these cry to heaven for vengeance, and no present reparation can possibly be made which can atone for conduct so monstrous. We are glad that the MARQUIS OF STAFFORD is promising to be more liberal and humane in his treatment of the oppressed and unfortunate cottar. Highlanders have suffered much from the hands of his family in the past, but forgiving as they are, if he makes, as far as in his power, even partial atonement for the tyranny and oppression of years, the past will be forgotten in the new era of peace and prosperity which he, in common with other proprietors in Scotland, can do so much to introduce. The rights of the cottar have been too long considered subordinate to sheep and deer by the landed gentry of the Highlands, and we hope that before long such legislation may be secured as will recognize the truth that the land belongs to the people, and that the alleged rights and privileges of the wealthy few shall be considered as secondary to the general good of the public.

We do not regret that the measure introduced by the Lord Advocate for the relief of the crofters was extinguished when it fell into the hands of the territorialists. So little was it regarded by the members of the late ministry, that they allowed it to die without a single effort to stay its dissolution. It is better that it ended so. Much more radical and thorough must be the measure that will before long remedy the fatal defects of a system that can only be regarded with horror, and which to longer continue will place an indelible stain upon the fair fame of Scotland.

A CORRESPONDENT, who was in San Francisco during the small-pox epidemic in 1868, writes to the Star, that an eminent Californian doctor at that time issued the following circular: Place 1 oz. cream cartar in 16 oz. water and take a tablespoonful three times a day, and you may sleep with a small-pox patient with perfect impunity. Let each citizen do the same thing and in fifteen days it may be the end of small-pox in any city.

JOURNALISTS IN PUBLIC LIFE.

The late SIR FRANCIS HINCKS, up to his death, was looked upon as the Nestor of the Canadian press. With possibly one exception — that of DAVID WILLIS, for many years editor and publisher of the Brockville Recorder, known amongst press men as the "father" of the Canadian press — the deceased statesman used his pen with greater effect in discussing Canadian affairs, and to the very last he lost none of the force and vigor which characterized his writings in the early days of Canada's history, a period when party lines were defined with greater sharpness than they even are to-day, when to be a reformer was looked upon with disdain by the family compact hords, and when it was necessary to be on either one side or the other in discussing the affairs of the nation. Terrorism was rampant, and at the peril of their lives a few brave men arose in the land who, notwithstanding powerful odds against them, strenuously advocated measures of reform deemed by them necessary in the interests of the people and calculated to advance the welfare and prosperity of the nation. But a mere handful at first, yet as time rolled on and the population of the provinces of Upper and Lower Canada increased, the noble band of patriots began to increase in numbers and influence. The rebellion of 1837 was the climax of long and continued agitation for responsible government and other social religious and political liberties, insisted upon by a long down-trodden people. The late WILLIAM LYON MACKENZIE was a prime mover, the front figure, in that movement, and he lived to see the day when the measures advocated by him—and for the advocacy of which he had to leave the country—became the law of the land. But few are now left to tell the tale of the troubles the early pioneers of these provinces had to encounter. MR. MACKENZIE controlled a journal at Niagara, then the capital of Upper Canada. He afterwards removed to "Muddy Little York" where he received the aid of such men as HINCKS, PAPINEAU and others, who afterwards became famed as journalists and statesmen. Since then many eminent men have graduated in the journalist school of Canada. The name of the late HON. GEORGE BROWN, invariably admitted to be the ablest newspaper writer Canada has yet produced, is known throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion. Contemporary with MR. BROWN was the HON. WM. MCDOUGALL, still left to battle valiantly through the press. In the far east province of Nova Scotia we find the HON. MR. FIELDING, now the premier of the province, a first class journalist. In New Brunswick the late provincial secretary, HON. MR. ELDER, likewise a journalist. In Prince Edward Island the late Lieut.-Governor of the Northwest Territories, HON. DAVID LAIRD, is actively engaged in journalism. In the Dominion cabinet there are three professed journalists, namely SIR HECTOR LANGEVIN, HON. MESSRS. BOWELL and WHITE. While in the House of Commons are to be found the HON. DAVID MILLS, late Minister of the Interior, now editor of the London Advertiser, MESSRS. INNES and SOMMERVILLE, both actively engaged on the press in their respective constituencies. In that House such men as the HON. MESSRS. ALEX. MACKENZIE, T. W. LAURIER, J. A. MOUSSEAU, T. A. R. LAFLAMME and the late DARCY MCGEE and SENATOR PENNY were all acknowledged to be writers of ability. JOSEPH HOWE, C. W. BUNTING and ROBERT SPENCE were equally famous. In the Ontario Assembly we find such journalists as the HON. MESSRS. G. W. ROSS, JAMES YOUNG, SPEAKER CLARKE, CREIGHTON, WALLACE and other trained and experienced newspaper men. In the prairie province of Manitoba, excepting C. S. DOUGLAS of the Emerson International, we are not aware of any professed journalist in public life. In British Columbia the HON. JOHN ROBSON, Provincial Secretary, has for many years been actively associated with the press of his adopted province. HON. AMOR DE COSMOS, likewise a press man, was Premier of British Columbia for many years and also this city's representative to Ottawa. In addition to those named there have been many others who, having played their part on the press staff, as well as in the theatre of public life, have passed away, leaving in many instances a record behind them well worthy of emulation by those who are now filling their places.

Few persons are aware of the extensive nature of the victualing on board the great ocean steamers. Each vessel is provisioned as follows for the passengers and the crew: 3,500 lbs. of butter, 3,000 hams, 1,600 pounds of biscuit, exclusive of those supplied for the crew; 8,000 pounds of grapes, almons, figs other dessert fruits; 1,500 pounds of jams and jellies; tinned meats, 6,000 pounds dried beans 3,000 pounds; rice, 3,000 pounds, onions, 5,000 pounds; potatoes, 40 tons, flour, 300 barrels; and eggs, 1,200 dozen. Fresh vegetables, dead meat and live bullocks, sheep, pigs, geese, turkeys ducks, fowls, fish and casual game are generly supplied at each port, so that it is difficult to estimate them. Probably two dozen bullocks and sixty sheep would be a fair average for the whole voyage, and the rest may be inferred in proportion. During the summer months, when travelling is heavy, twenty-five fowls are often used in soup for a single dinner.

THE Montreal Gazette suggests that the memory of SIR FRANCIS HINCKS should be honored by a statue in the Parliamentary grounds at Ottawa, where the statue of SIR GEORGE CARTIER already stands. The suggestion is an excellent one. The circumstances of the death of the veteran statesman, which required his solitary burial, render it all the more appropriate that the country should have a reminder that SIR FRANCIS HINCKS was once its leader.

The Church Debt—A National Institution.

[Bill Nye.]

The church debt itself is deserving of notice in this country. It certainly thrives better under a republican form of government than any other feature of our boasted civilization. Western towns spring up everywhere, and the first anxiety is to name the place, the second to incur a church debt and establish a roller rink.

After that a general activity in trade is assured. Of course the general hostility of church and rink will prevent ennui and listlessness, and the church debt will encourage a business boom. Naturally, the church debt cannot be paid without what is generally known through the west as a "festival and hooraw." This festival is an open market where ladies trade the groceries of their husbands to other ladies' husbands, and everybody has a "perfectly lovely time." The church clears $6.80, and thirteen ladies are sick all the next day.

This makes a boom for the physicians, and later on for the undertaker and general tomfool. So it will be seen that the western town is right in establishing a church debt as soon as the survey is made and the town properly named. After the first, church debt has been properly started others will rapidly follow, so that no anxiety need be felt if the church will come forward the first year and buy more than it can pay for.

The church debt is a comparatively modern appliance, and yet it has been productive of many peculiar features. For instance we call to mind the clergyman who makes a speciality of getting from place to place as a successful debt demolisher. He is a part of the general system just as much as the ice cream freezer or the button-hole bouquet.

I once knew a most exemplary woman who became greatly interested in the wiping out of a church debt and who did finally succeed in wiping out the debt, but in its last expiring death-struggle it gave her a wipe from which she never recovered. She had succeeded in begging the milk and the cream and the eggs and the sandwiches and the use of the dishes and the sugar and the loan of an oyster and the use of a freezer and fifty button-hole bouquets to be sold to men who were not in the habit of wearing bouquets, but she could not borrow a circular artist to revolve the crank of the freezer so she agitated it herself. Her husband had to go away prior to the festivities, but he ordered her not to crank the freezer. He had very little influence with her, however, and so to-day he is a widower. The church debt was revived in the following year, and now there isn't a more thriving church debt anywhere in the country.

I must add also that in the above estimate doctors' bills and funeral expenses are not reckoned.

Pat's Account of Shiloh.

[Chicago Leader.]

"Was you in the battle of Shiloh, Pat?"

"Yis, sor, I was, sor; and well do I remember that occasion, sor; ispicially about 3 o'clock on the afthernoon av the second day, sor. I was in the acstrame advance, sor, foightin' wid all the power in me, sor, whin I haird Barygard spake out to his min, sor, that I was dirnpin' as fasht as I could load and foire, sor, and see he, 'He's no use b'ys; the divil himself is in that thicket, and we're only wastin' ourselves by tarryin' here lads. Retrate is the proper thing, now, begorra, and retrate it is.' And wid that I hurd him say, sor, sez he, 'To the roight about—march!' But I advanced mesilf, sor, and kipt straight on, pickin' off his min as fashy as I could shoot, sor, and there, begorra, I sthuck, redugin' his ranks, sor, till Gineral Grant himsilf came ridin' up as tight as he could gallop, sor, and he yells out to me, sor, and sez he, 'Sase foorin' there, Pat McCairty, yo blockhead! Can't ye say for yersilf the battle's over, sor, and shtill ye'd be murtherin' min that give up the conflict, sor?' Yis, indade, sor, I was there, sor, and it was mesilf, sor, that done as mooch, sor, to start a graveyaird, sor, as the nixt, sor."

A Sudden Change in Values.

[Baltimore Ton-e.]

"Where are you going with the puppies, my little man?" asked a gentleman of a small boy whom he met with three puppies in a basket.

"Goin' to drown them," was the reply.

"I want a pup for my little boy to play with. What do you say to letting me take one of them?"

"I'll sell you one," spoke up the kid, with American enterprise. "I'll sell you that yaller one for fifty cents, the black one for seventy-five cents, an' the spotted one is worth one dollar of any man's money."

"I think my little boy would like the spotted one best, but you ask too much for it. You had intended drowning all of them, but I'll give you twenty-five cents and save you the trouble of drowning the spotted one."

"Twenty-five cents for that spotted purp!" exclaimed the boy. "I can't stand it; taxes is high; rent is high. It costs good money to go into the roller rink. Oh, no; I can't take less than $1."

"But you intend to drown——"

"Take the black one at seventy-five cents."

"My little boy wouldn't like the black one."

"Take the yaller one at half a dollar. He's dirt cheap."

"My little boy wouldn't like his color."

"Well, then, you'd better tell your little boy to play with his toes," and he continued toward the river. "No party can dead-beat his way on me these hard times."

Versatility.

[Evansville Ile-ems.]

The mosquito is a queer bird. He is versatile. He can turn his hand to almost anything, and do it quickly, too. When you see one balancing on his tiptoes, like a girl crossing a muddy walk, you would swear he was all legs. When he dodges from one of your ears to the other like chain lightning you are confident that instead of legs they are all wings. At midnight, when all the world is hushed and still, and he patiently waits by your bedside until you drop asleep, so that his impending operations may not disturb you, he sings his happy, contented little ditty to while away the time, and then you are certain that he is all voice. When he lights down on you and begins to explore your anatomy, to find out what you are stubbed with, you swear on a stack of bibles—of the new version, Oxford edition, price $2—that legs, wings, voice and all had turned into red-hot drilling tools, soaked in pork brine. When you strike where he was and hit where he is not, you think he has exacted the whole business into a combination of Remington steel springs, oil tempered. Yes, the mosquito is a whole tool chest, with monkey wrench and oil can thrown in, and a portable forge to keep his tools hot.

No Chance for an Alibi.

[New York Sun.]

"If you are innocent," said a lawyer to his client, an old darky, who was charged with stealing a ham, "we ought to be able to prove an alibi."

"I don' 'spects we kin," the darky replied doubtfully.

"At what time was the ham stolen?"

"'Bout 'leben o'clock, dey say."

"Well, where were you between 11 o'clock and midnight, in bed?"

"No, sah; I was ridin' de ham."

Some Use for Shakespeare.

[Puck's Weekly.]

A young man named Toby was paying attention to a young lady named Hamlet. He had not been calling upon her long when she treated him to a selection from Shakespeare, starting thus:

"To be or not to be, that is the question!"

"Enough!" he shouted, "it is to-be."

The cards are out.

A CHARGE AND COUNTER CHARGE.

A State With Law for the Mule and Mighty Little for the Darkey.

[Opie P. Read.]

Old Trotline Dave came to town the other day, driving a little blue-looking mule. The animal was so poor, and the hair had been rubbed off him in so many places that Dave was arrested for cruelty to animals and was arraigned before a justice of the peace.

"Old man," said the magistrate, "do you belong to the church?"

"Yes, sah."

"Did you ever preach?"

"No, sah, neber preached; but I hab sorted wid er mighty loud mouf."

"Your church teaches kindness in all things, does it not?"

"Who yer 'ludin' ter?"

"I am referring to you."

"What's I done?"

"You have been cruel to your mule."

"How so, sah?"

"By rubbing the hair off him and by not feeding him."

"Is dat de cause why da hab fotch me up heah?"

"Yes."

"Whut yer gwine ter do wid me?"

"We are going to try you, and if we find you guilty, we are going to punish you."

"Do de law gin yer dat right?"

"Yes."

"Well, go er head an' try me."

"What have you to say in your defense?"

"Oh, I ain't pleadin'. Go on wid de trial."

"When did you feed that mule?"

"Dis mawnin'."

"What did you give him?"

"Er straw hat."

"Did he eat it?"

"Who, him?"

"Yes."

"I reckons he did, fur when I went back shortly arterwards de hat wan't dar."

"How did he lose so much of his hair?"

"He didn't lose it. De gear wore it off."

"Well, old man, you are guilty of a crime."

"Uh, huh. De law say so, de it?"

"Yes."

"Law 'pears ter be on de mule side. Nigger doan 'pear to hab no show."

"Law 'pears to be on de mule side."

"None that I see. I am compelled to fine you $5."

"All right, sah; heah's yer money. Now, sah," he continued when he had paid the money, "I wants yer ter make out er warrant fur de arrest o' er party."

"What is the name?"

"I calls him Dan."

"White or colored?"

"Colored."

"What is the charge?"

"'Sault wid 'tent ter kill."

"Where is the man?"

"Whut man?"

"The man you want arrested."

"I doan' want no man arrested."

"What's this warrant for, then?"

"Fur de errest o' de mule."

"Oh, go on, old man."

"No, sah, de mule hab sued me, now I'se gwine tar sue de mule."

"Well," said the justice, who had conceived the idea of humoring the old man, "consider the defendant arraigned and proceed to state your case."

"Wall, sah, erbout er week ergo, I went down ter de stable 'fore daylight. I had gin de mule ernuff hay ter keep him chawin' all night; but, sah, when I went in an' 'gunter put de gear on him he wheeled errun', backed me up in de corner o' de stall an' 'gunter stove his hoofs ergin me in er scan'lous manner. Talk erbout de breakbone fever, w'y it wa'n't er carcumstance. I was all beamed up an' couldn' do nothin' else, so I 'gunter 'sposterlate wid de daim scoun'rel——"

"No swearing in court."

"'Scuse me, sah. I 'gunter reason wid him. 'Look heah, Dan,' I, 'dat oughtenter be no diff'rence o' erpinion twixt us, 'case we've been good frien's. I could turn heah now an' kick de liber outen yer but I doan't wanter hurt yer. Yer know mighty well dat if it hadn't been for me yer woulder starved ter death laung ergo, so let us not git frackshus arter so 'stended erquaintance. Now, lemme git out, like er good feller.' I tried ter pass him, but bim, bim, he let me hab it. Wall, jedge, I couldn't do nothin' but stan' right dar an' take de sicherwations ez da come, while he chawed his hay jes' like de man what gin it ter him wa'n't in awful misery. He kep' me in dar all day, sah, 'case he didn' want to go out in de hot sun an' work fur his libin'. I hollered an' whooped but nobody come. At las'—erbout night—he let me out. It was all I coul' do ter hobble eriaung, I was so badly used up. Now, jedge, dis am de reason why, since dat time, I ain' been so kereful o' dat rascal's feelin's."

"Well, old man, I will refund your money. Take the mule, go home and treat him kindly. If he assaults you again, I will have him put in jail."

"Thankee, jedge, thankee, sah. Oh, dar's some little law fur de nigger, but it takes ernighty heep o' pleadin' ter git it out. Good day, boss."

Candid Advice.

[Detroit Free Press.]

A member of the detective force, who was in the western part of the city the other day in search of a young man accused of theft, came across a boy who was playing marbles with himself, and carelessly inquired if he knew the party named in the warrant.

"Know him like a book," was the reply.

"Haven't seen him lately, eh?"

"Not since this morning."

"Pretty good fellow, isn't he?"

"One of the best in town."

"I suppose you know where he lives?"

"Oh, yes."

"Do you think I could hire him to work for me?"

"Guess not, sir."

"But we might walk up to the house and see."

"No use—not a bit. In the first place I've got onto you for a detective. In the next place the old woman would 'spot' you twenty rods off. In the third place, before you got to the gate Bill would be two blocks off and running to beat railroad time. You see, I'm his brother, and I know all about how everything works, and you'd better save shoe leather."

To Gauge His Worth.

[New Orleans Picayune.]

The size of a man's funeral is no indication of the moral worth of the deceased. One must look to the truthful funeral sermon and to the candid obituary taffy to get at the true value of a dead soul.

Sad and Solemn.

[Fall River Advance.]

It is a sad and solemn thought that Franklin did not discover lightning until after he was married.

Chicago Tribune: A western paper invited its subscribers to come and witness the workings of its new Bullock press, when it was developed that the editor had taken a cider mill on subscription, and run it with a yoke of oxen.

Advertising Cheats!!!

"It has become so common to begin an article, in an elegant, interesting style,

"Then run it into some advertisement that we avoid all such,

And simply call attention to the merits of Hop Bitters in as plain, honest terms as possible,

"To induce people

"To give them one trial, which so proves their value that they will never use anything else."

"THE REMEDY so favorably noticed in all the papers,

Religious and secular, is

"Having a large sale, and is supplanting all other medicines.

"There is no denying the virtues of the Hop plant, and the proprietors of Hop Bitters have shown great shrewdness and ability * * *

"In compounding a medicine whose virtues are so palpable to every one's observation."

Did She Die?

"No!

"She lingered and suffered along, pining away all the time for years.

"The doctors doing her no good;

"And at last was cured by this Hop Bitters as the papers say so much about;

"Indeed! Indeed!"

"How thankful we should be for that medicine."

A Daughter's Misery.

"Eleven years our daughter suffered on a bed of misery.

"From a complication of kidney, liver, rheumatic trouble and Nervous debility,

"Under the care of the best physicians,

"Who gave her disease various names,

"But no relief.

"And now she is restored to us in good health by as simple a remedy as Hop Bitters, that we had shunned for years before using it."—THE PARENTS.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

While the TIMES is always prepared to give publicity to the views of correspondents on any question of interest to the public, provided facts are given, couched in unobjectionable language, we wish it to be understood that we do not hold ourselves responsible for the views expressed by the writers thereof.

Nor can we give room to duplicates of letters that have appeared in our contemporaries either in this city or elsewhere in the province. Correspondents, therefore, will save time and trouble in preparing such for THE TIMES, as they will be rejected.

Our space is valuable, and brevity, as far as possible, should be observed in writing on any topic, and on ONE SIDE of the sheet only.

Chief Engineer Charles J. Phillips Victoria Fire Department, is in the field for re-election next October.

The Kellogg Concert.

There was a very large and fashionable attendance at Philharmonic Hall on Saturday night. The programme was an excellent one, although possibly too much deference was paid to the educated ear of the audience and too little to those who love to hear "the old familiar songs." As comedy is more popular with the masses than tragedy so, likewise, simple, soul stirring melodies are more highly appreciated, and call forth more responsive sympathies than the highly cultured efforts of the opera. Still the programme was a fairly well diversified in that respect, and all musical tastes, the simple and the refined were catered to, as they never have been before in Victoria, by Miss Kellogg and company. All the songs were rapturously applauded, and in the majority of cases the encores were graciously responded to by Miss Kellogg, was, as a matter of course, the star of the company, but there were not lacking those among the audience who had a higher appreciation for Miss Groves' singing and manifested it in an unmistakeable manner. Mr. Mockridge, who is the possessor of a magnificent tenor voice, was unfortunately unable to attempt his solos in consequence of a slight irritation in his throat. Miss Ollie Torbett's contributions on the violin were superb in every respect, while Mr. Adolph Glose was equally successful at the piano. Mr. Morawski possesses a full, rich bass voice and sang several solos with splendid effect. The audience seemed to be thoroughly well pleased, and it would be difficult to decide which of the performers, or which of the efforts, met with the loudest demonstrations of approval, so unstinted and general was the applause that each received.

Funeral Services.

The mortal remains of the late Mr. J. H. Carmichael, of the telegraph office here, were yesterday afternoon consigned to their last resting place in Ross Bay cemetery. The services at his late residence on McClure street and at the Reformed church were very impressive. Rev. Bishop Cridge conducted the services of the Episcopal church. Miss Mouatt presided at the organ. The deceased being a member of the I. O. O. F., the impressive service of that order was read at the grave by brother J. T. Partridge. Messrs. Theo. Davie, R. B. McMicking, W. F. Archibald, James Wilson, H. L. Jones, W. P. Sayward and Chas. Lombard acted as pall bearers.

Nearly a Riot.

On Saturday night a sailor got into a row with three or four Chinamen, and was making it rather unpleasant for his adversaries, when the latter blew their whistles. A large crowd of Celestials soon gathered, but the sailor managed to escape. At one time it looked as though a serious riot was imminent, as an opposing crowd of white men at once assembled on the corner of Government and Cormorant streets, ready to take a hand in any fight that might occur. Fortunately, however, the fight did not become general, and beyond some hard knocks and a few bruises, administered by the sailor, no one was hurt.

A Splendid Ranch.

The editor of the Kamloops Sentinel has visited the far-famed ranch of W. J. Roper, Esq., and was surprised at the extent of the property, more especially the fruit trees, plums, apples, currants, etc. The premises were selected over 25 years since on account of the fertile soil and abundance of excellent water from Cherry Creek. The fences enclose 1500 acres, and this year Mr. R. has put up over 400 tons of hay to feed his 1500 head of stock during winter. The 17 miles of road from Kamloops to Mr. Roper's is rather winding, and at times up hill.

A Big Rush.

Mr. Hayns, late of England, and Mr. Pike, from one of the Gulf of Georgia Islands, fitted out a pack train at Kamloops last week, consisting of their own riding horses and two Indians with their horses, and six animals packed with supplies. They left first of last week for up the North Thompson on a hunting expedition, calculating to be gone about three months. Their outfit amounted to nearly $1,000. The party go to Tete Jaune Cache, Stuart Lake and Jasper house. A big hunt is expected.

Sudden Death.

Mr. John Morley, veterinary surgeon, a well known citizen of Victoria, was found dead in his bed this morning. The immediate cause of death is believed to have been heart disease. Deceased has resided for many years in this city, and always took an active interest in the fire department, being, at the time of death, a candidate for the position of Chief Engineer. Those who knew him best speak of him as the possessor of a generous nature. May he rest in peace.

Fire in Portland.

Powers' furniture factory, Portland was burned Sunday morning. The establishment was located at the foot of Montgomery on Water street. Dwelling houses in the neighborhood were also destroyed. The fire was discovered at 2:45 a. m. At 4:30 it was still raging, having communicated with the open dock. The fire at that hour was supposed to be under control. Losses will be heavy.

John Chisholm, Miss L McKinnon, W Adams, wife and son, Mr. Frissers, Mrs Frances, J G Moylan, Mrs Eaton, W H Pennock, C W Lewis, E W Powell, Mrs A E Cox, Miss Phipps, A M Nicholson, Miss L L Elsevem, Mrs L Agvage.

Mr. N. Sabin has a very superior thorough bred Jersey bull for sale. Likewise a number of good milch cows and calves. The Jerseys as milkers are rapidly coming to the front. They are specially adapted to this province and should be found in the stock of every dairyman in the country.

A Large Kiln of Brick.

Mr. George Mason, brick manufacturer has now ready for the fire a kiln of brick consisting of forty arches, and containing over nine hundred thousand brick. It is believed to be the largest quantity ever burned in one kiln in the province.

Arm Broken.

On Sunday evening as Mr. George Mason, brick-maker, was crossing a street, he was knocked down and run over by a passing cab. One arm was broken and several severe bruises received.

Annual Gathering in New Westminster.

The Annual Gathering of the Mainland Caledonian and St. Andrew's Society will take place at New Westminster on Wednesday, 2nd September, 1885. A programme of games is being prepared. In the evening a grand ball in drill shed. The steamer Yosemite will take passengers to and from at a reduced price.

The Oriental Restaurant will hereafter be kept open day and night.

THE SIMILKAMEEN MINES.

What is Being Done at the New El Dorado—$800 a Day.

A letter from Granite Creek, dated the 18th inst., to the Kamloops Sentinel, says that Reinhart & Co., at mouth of creek, have just finished their pump and will commence washing to-morrow. Saff on Co., above, have been washing for three days with fair results. This morning one-half the claim was sold to Messrs. Reasdale and Shearburn for a good figure. Nicola Co., next above, Bob Hamilton foreman, expected to be washing Saturday. This claim prospects well. Then follows several claims owned by Chinese, that they bought from white men, paying a good price for same. They are working like beavers, puiting in wing dams, etc. Then comes the "boss" claim on the creek, the Jenkins Co., three interests. They are taking it out big. On the 15th inst. they washed up about $800 for that day's run, four men working. On the 17th inst. same company washed up 41½ oz., washing from noon till 6 p. m., one-half day's work. Brumley & Briggs' Co. are doing extra well, from twenty to forty dollars a day to the hand. Messrs. Fay & Co. also doing well. Then several claims above, worked by white men with rockers, all averaging ten dollars a day to the hand. In fact, every claim on the creek that is being worked is paying well. The creek is staked off for over two and a half miles. Men are coming in every day; some going away in disgust. One thing is certain, that there is no room for any more men on this creek, but there are several creeks in this vicinity that would be worth prospecting. Experienced miners say that this is a gold country, and that there will be several prospecting parties going out this fall and next summer.

In a letter to this office a resident of Nicola, says that he has visited the mines, which he pronounces good for the best five years. But men are foolish, he says, to go in this year, as the season is now too late. Doubtless, in the spring, there will be a big rush to the Similkameen country.

POLICE COURT.

(Before Edwin Johnson, Esq., S. M.)

Mah Yang, against whom an information had been laid on the 24th of July, charging him with having accused Ah Sing of murder for the purpose of extorting money, was discharged, there being no prosecution.

John Jones, drunk; fined $5 and $1 cost.

Ah Sing, stealing a pair of pants from the store of W. & J. Wilson. Officer Young testified to the arrest. Mr. Wilson testified that on Saturday night a citizen named Findlay brought the prisoner and the pants into the store and stated that he had seen the Chinaman running away, with the pants in his hand. He had chased the thief up Trounce alley and captured him. Prisoner was remanded till to-morrow for the evidence of the man who captured him.

Frank Angelo, supplying an intoxicant to Jack, a Bella Coola Indian. Prisoner pleaded guilty and was fined $50 and costs, or three months.

James Hayward, assaulting Thomas Clark. The latter, a deck hand on the Yosemite, was sworn and said, that on returning to the steamer about 9 o'clock last night, in company with his brother, he passed prisoner and another man near the wharf. Prisoner, after asking why witness followed him, made an assault with a butcher knife, cutting witness twice on the wrist. He had no weapon and tried to get away from his assailant. A counter charge of aggravated assault was laid against Clark, and the case was remanded until Wednesday, bail to the amount of $50 being accepted.

The charge against the proprietors of the new Chinese theater, for having erected the building contrary to the law requiring doors of public buildings to open outward, was withdrawn, defendants to pay costs and change the building in conformity with the law.

Off the Track.

Three construction cars and a caboose were thrown from the track, a week ago yesterday, six miles west of Kamloops. Mr. Lindsay, telegraph superintendent, who was in the caboose at the time was injured slightly, as was also several other men.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

Dr. Sutherland's Sermon—A Criticism

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—The statement was made in Sunday morning's sermon, by Dr. Sutherland, that the heathen are extremely immoral. As regards the civilized heathen, at least, I believe the doctor has made a very serious mistake. That some immorality may be laid at their door is true; but our Christianized nations cannot throw stones safely in this matter. Witness London, and witness the drunkenness prevalent in Christendom. How is it possible for the sober races of mankind to be less moral than your drunken Caucasion race? Perhaps Dr. Sutherland will explain this enigma. Our highest authority in British Columbia, viz., the judges, affirm directly to the contrary. Then as to the increase of numbers of nominal Christians, that result is mainly owing to the increase in population of Europe and America; not to advances in other lands, and if we deduct from the whole number the infidels and supporters of what Dr. Sutherland calls spurious Christianity, there is not much to crow over. I respectfully request Dr. Sutherland to clear these matters up. TRUTH.

The Macaroni Man with all the Brains.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES.

SIR,—I was very much surprised to see a letter in the Colonist from this wonder of an architect C. E. Apponyi with whom Sir Christopher Wren is not to be compared, rush into print in the controversy on Point Ellice bridge. An old adage says, a smart man attends to his own business but this great immortal and terrific man that boasts of brains does not appear to have advanced so far as that; or perhaps he is trying to scratch the old woman of the Colonist's back while the old midwife is rubbing his. It is only a short time ago that this remarkable surprise laid a piece inserted in the old Madam's paper informing the credulous citizens of this benighted country how he and only he, was awarded the prize of $50,000 for plans accepted on the Colorado State House, which he knew at the time to be false. Yes, as false as the two-sided face he showed to the citizens of Victoria that he carries. D. F. Adams has his faults—we all have—but if he got out plans for a building, and in the course of construction part of the front of the building was to tumble out I have no doubt he would shoulder the blame like a little man, and not try and work off the blunder on the bricklayers or their laborers. In conclusion I would advise this not very welcome addition, C. E. Apponyi, in future to bend all his vast energies to the job he has on hand, or a sketch of his past career will be furnished to the people of British Columbia, which will form a very interesting picture to the reading public. Point Ellice Bridge.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—The position of the government and their hirelings reminds me of throwing a stone at a hornet's nest—their angry buzzing amuses us while their stings are harmless. They are shouting and wildly gesticulating from the top of Point Ellice bridge, and all they require to complete that elegant structure is a Keely motor, of recent invention. I asked the government a fair question, and demanded a fair answer. Have they done it? No! As to the unfair comparison of Quesnelle bridge, I will state that I have the figures. The total cost of the iron, at Quesnelle, was $12,350; and over 300,000 feet of lumber that cost $30 per thousand on an average. Now I will give you the tenders, which are published in the Chief Commissioner's report for 1875, on page 145, the following will be found for Quesnelle bridge and wagon road:

D. F. Adams	$ 37,500
Johnson Robinson & Co	39,000
McDonald & Grant	47,000
G. B. Wright	59,600

The public are aware that G. B. Wright has been one of the largest contractors in British Columbia for 25 years. No man is better posted on the rapid rivers than Mr. Wright. In fact he is frequently consulted by the present government, and his advice and knowledge is highly appreciated by those luminaries. Now mark the difference between our figures: my tender being $22,100 less than Mr. Wright's a competent authority. Do these figures show that I looted the province? Those gentlemen, well know, especially the editor of their organ, that if Quesnelle bridge cost more than $37,500 it was no fault of mine. Examine files of the Colonist for 1876, and it will be seen that the Colonist published many articles on my behalf and loudly applauded my course in reference to that work. They have employed a Mexican or Russian Greaser to challenge my engineering abilities, who tells us that a small rod of iron, owing to its lightness, is stronger than a larger one. It will be news to the public that I ever pretended to be an engineer. His assinine abilities are greater than his engineering knowledge. It is well known that J. McMullen is not an engineer, and his relation to the government is now well established. I smile at the Colonist's scribe, who signs "One who knows," his wonderful flow of language and lofty imagination, is equal to that 64th part of an inch that he describes. Now, Mr. Editor, I call your attention, and that of the public, to the two deck spans at Point Ellice, which obstructs the harbor. Can any sensible man give a reason why those spans could not set above? I predict the time is not far distant when Point Ellice bridge will be dubbed Smithe and Gore's folly.
